

HERITAGE SOCIETY

Dear Excelsior Member,

Our new Visitor Center, situated at the entrance to our driveway, opens soon. Over the past ten months, the winery entrance has been redesigned to feature new landscaping, an electronic gate, and a Visitor Center refurbished from a water tank house originally located on the back side of the property. The structure is a historic edifice of Grecian design built in 1879 along with the Chateau. Rather than construct something new, the Coppola family wanted to share this rarely seen, historic building with a wider audience.

Members will have special access to the Estate through a software download to your smart phone or by using a sensor device that will be available for purchase. Keep an eye out for an email in early December with details about the software.

Remember, Excelsior members have additional benefits that were added in September, including $10 flat rate ground shipping per twelve-bottle case to a single address. Please note that ground shipping may not be available in all states during the summer months. Additionally, your 30% reorder discount now extends to 375ml and 1.5L bottles when applicable.

This shipment features our new release, the 2013 "1882" Cabernet Sauvignon. Highly sought after, the wine ordinarily sells out only a few months after it is released.

WINE NOTES

Our 2013 vintage of 1882 is round and consistent with a velvety palate. Highly aromatic and immediately expressive, you'll find an alluring fragrance of plums, currants, dried cherries, cocoa, and violets followed by smooth flavors of red fruits with a hint of almond.

Also included with your shipment is the 2016 Calendar of Member Events, so that you may plan your Napa Valley travel in advance. Hotels book up early in Napa particularly during the months of September and October as well as most weekends. We look forward to hosting you in 2016 so you may experience all of our recent changes.

2013 EDIZIONE PENNINO ZINFANDEL

HISTORY

Edizione Pennino Zinfandel pays tribute to Francis Ford Coppola’s maternal grandfather, Francesco Pennino. Born in Italy, Francesco emigrated to the United States as a young man and started a music publishing company known as “Edizione Pennino.” Our estate Zinfandel bears the music company’s logo in its original form and to add to the nostalgia, each vintage bottling has one of Pennino’s song titles imprinted on the cork. When Coppola purchased the Inglenook estate in 1975, it was recommended that he remove the Zinfandel vines, but because this varietal has Italian origins and has always been enjoyed by his family, he insisted the Zinfandel remain.

VINTAGE NOTES

Although it was one of the driest growing seasons on record, 2013 was a stellar vintage in large part because the vines were optimized by the ideal conditions of the previous year. The growing season produced a large crop, so the vines had to be thinned on multiple occasions, but these efforts paid off. By late summer, we could see the Zinfandel was going to be very concentrated and well balanced.

WINEMAKING NOTES

Our Zinfandel selections are dry-farmed head-pruned vines that offer concentrated berry flavors and pronounced spice notes. Morisoli clone selections contribute fresh raspberry fruit flavors, lively acidity and spice notes, while the historic Werle clone adds dark boysenberry aromas and a round texture. Over the last few years, we’ve refined our winemaking methods, using smaller boxes for picking, a new destemmer that is gentler on the fruit, and we apply greater scrutiny during the fermentation process by evaluating individual blocks of fruit daily to determine which will benefit from pump overs. Also, this vintage, we implemented by-the-hour pay for our pickers rather than by-the-ton, as an additional quality measure that encourages our vineyard staff to pick more slowly, be gentler with the fruit, and focus on selecting higher quality clusters as a means of pre-sorting. It is our goal to continue this technique with all future vintages. After fermentation, our Pennino Zinfandel matures in a combination of French and American oak barrels.

TASTING NOTES

Endowed with a velvety texture and soft tannins, the 2013 Pennino Zinfandel opens with a certain level of restraint that quickly builds into an intense and persistent display of flavor and fragrance. From dramatic spice aromas that include cloves, nutmeg, and cocoa mixed with blueberries and raspberries, the palate comes to life with refreshing flavors of red cherries, cinnamon, and vanilla. There is a decidedly earthy quality about this vintage with distinct mineral notes and nuances of menthol. Smooth and supple, this wine is extremely well balanced and enjoys great length.

NIEBAUM ESTATE

2013 CABERNET SAUVIGNON 1882

HISTORY

1882 was the first vintage produced by Gustave Niebaum on the estate that would become one of the most renowned wineries in the New World – Inglenook. In the same year, Niebaum dug a small cave in the foothills of the Mayacamas to experiment and better understand temperature ideals for barrel aging. Niebaum’s vision was legendary and his inquisitive search for perfection pioneered many initiatives of the modern-day Napa Valley. Today, Inglenook lies in the heart of the famous Rutherford Bench, offering an unparalleled wealth of quality fruit, richness and minerality from this unique terroir. 1882, made exclusively from estate-grown Cabernet Sauvignon, has been created to honor Gustave.

VINTAGE NOTES

Although it was one of the driest growing seasons on record, 2013 was a stellar vintage. Despite the lack of precipitation, the vines were optimized by the ideal conditions of the previous year. The crop was unusually large, requiring a thinning out of fruit on multiple occasions. But these efforts paid off. By late summer, it was apparent our Cabernet was going to be of very high quality. The resulting fruit exhibited tremendous concentration that was perfectly balanced and highly fragrant.

WINEMAKING NOTES

Over the last few years, we’ve refined our Cabernet Sauvignon program, using smaller boxes for picking and a new destemmer that is gentler on the fruit. Likewise, during the fermentation process, we evaluate individual blocks of fruit daily to determine which will benefit from pump overs. These methods have greatly enhanced the quality of our Cabernet Sauvignon, which is why this wine is a pure varietal representation. Unlike Rubicon, which is aged exclusively in French oak, we age our 1882 Cabernet in a combination of French and American oak for 18 months, using only a small percentage of new wood.

TASTING NOTES

Our 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon 1882 is round and consistent with a velvety palate and a sense of “completeness” from the well-developed linear tannins. Highly aromatic and immediately expressive, you’ll find an alluring fragrance of plums, currants, dried cherries, cocoa, and violets followed by smooth flavors of red fruits with a hint of almond. The wine’s complexity is made even more intriguing as the wine finishes with the subtle sweetness of white chocolate. If you choose to enjoy this vintage in its youth, we recommend decanting for 1 hour before serving, otherwise our 1882 Cabernet Sauvignon will continue to evolve and drink best in 5 to 10 years.
