RACK OF LAMB MADAME BALI*

This is an Armenian recipe, which I learned from my friend Armen Baliantz. The lamb racks are marinated in pomegranate juice and white onions for three days, and then grilled on our parrilla. Very tender and delicious, with rice pilaf.

CHICKEN MATTONE

This dish, alternately called chicken under the stone or brick, has become popular lately, but often too tame compared to my favorite version. You have to drive out to a restaurant on the outskirts of Rome about 45 minutes, and call ahead because this is how long it takes to prepare authentically. I went in the kitchen and watched an old man make it. Half of a chicken, its bones in but crushed, is sauteed in olive oil with a little paprika and slices of garlic and is put under an iron weight. All the fat is pressed out of it, and it's flat and crispy on the crushed bones and a little red from the paprika. It is a favorite of my kids as well.

The olive oil tin collection on display in RUSTIC comes from Italy, given to Francis Coppola by Tiziana Guatelli, who began collecting these works of art as a young girl. This type of decorative printed can was created for export to Italian immigrants in the U.S. and thus portrayed images of their homeland. Tiziana spent many years looking for old cans, often visiting small companies that were going out of business. The extensive collection is comprised of more than 4,000 pieces including rare lithographic stones used in the process.
